COMPILER'S NOTE.

This catalogue is arranged in two parts. In the first part the entries are printed in the order of the classification schedule (printed on pp. vi-viii), that is to say, in the same order as the books are located on the shelves in the History Library of the London School of Economics (Room 18). The second part of the catalogue is an alphabetical index to authors, subjects, and where necessary, titles. A person requiring a book on, say, Maritime Law, should consult this index, and he would find a reference to E 0549. In the classified section, under this number, appear all the works in the Library dealing with Maritime Law. Should a work by a particular author be wanted, the name of the author should be sought in the alphabetical index, where brief title entries of all works in the library by that author will be found. Full entry, size in inches, pages, date and place of publication, with other bibliographical information will be found in the classified portion of the catalogue. Numbers within brackets are Dewey geographical numbers. Thus (43) is the number allotted to Germany, and wherever that number appears within brackets, it signifies that the works in question have special reference to Germany. England is (42), France (44), United States (73), etc. Where two numbers, separated by a colon, are given within brackets, they signify that the works in question deal specially with the relations of two countries, i.e. (42 : 73), relations between England and the United States.

THE EDWARD FRY LIBRARY OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

The late Sir Edward Fry, formerly one of the Lords Justices of Appeal, and first delegate of Great Britain at the second Hague Conference, well known also for the work he did as arbitrator in international disputes, attempted to establish in his lifetime an international law library in London, and not very long before his death expressed regret that this had not been effected. His family, therefore, thought that the creation of such a library would be the best form of memorial to him. They accordingly, with the object of setting such a library on foot, handed over to Trustees (Viscount Haldane, Sir Erle Richards, Professsor Pearce Higgins, E. A. Whittuck, Esq., Sir Cecil Hurst, Professor Goudy and Charles P. Sanger Esq.) the sum of more than £3,000.

The London School of Economics and Political Science has been selected as the place where this library is to be deposited. The Trustees, out of the sum of money in their hands, thought well in the first place to purchase from Mrs. Oppenheim the library of her husband, the late Professor Oppenheim, the well-known Whewell Professor of International Law at Cambridge. The collection of books on international law which Professor Oppenheim made, comprising about 1,200 volumes, is by far the most complete which there is in England. These, with some works of special personal interest belonging to the late Sir Edward Fry, form the nucleus of an international law library worthy of this country. The Trustees will, as far as possible, keep it up to date and in good order out of the interest on the sum of money that remains in their hands.

The Library is available for reference to any student of the subject. A special classification, a copy of which is appended, based on the Library of Congress scheme, has been devised by the Librarian of the London School of Economics, and adequate card catalogues and indexes are available. The completeness of the Library will depend very largely upon the generosity of government departments, societies and private individuals interested in the subject. Donations of books, pamphlets and periodicals on any aspect of international law, as well as sums of money towards the maintenance of the Library, will be very cordially welcomed by the Trustees and should be sent to their Secretary, Mr. B. M. Headicar, Librarian of the London School of Economics, Houghton Street, W.C.2., who will be glad to give information and assistance to students.

The printing of this Catalogue has been made possible by the Carnegie United Kingdom Trust, who generously promised to defray the cost of compilation and production up to an amount of £500.
